BENTON HEIGHTS HIGH SCHOOL

Monroe, North Carolina

P R E F A C E

Since our graduation from high school is not too far distant, a certain amount of expected regret is beginning to creep upon us.

Such is life, however; "the old gives way to the new," and we must go on. We would not have it otherwise.

As the years slip by, we feel that each one will treasure a record of his school days. Truly believing this, we, the members of the staff, take pleasure in presenting to you the 1948 edition of THE HEIGHTS.

To our class sponsor, Miss Annie Mae Flowe,
for her loyalty and sympathetic understanding,
we dedicate with gratitude the 1948 edition of
THE HEIGHTS.

CLASS HISTORY

In July 1944, forty-two boys and girls were enrolled in the high school here. These members referred to themselves as the "Class of 1948." Miss Ruth Garren served as the sponsor of the class. Naturally, those "young children" felt as though they were being "picked on" by the older ones.

The second year was better. The youngsters had become more self-reliant. Miss Betty Woodson was the homeroom teacher. Miss Woodson also served as girls' basketball coach. Mr. Oscar W. Broome coached the boys' basketball team. The Beta Club, with Miss Annie Mae Flowe as sponsor, was organized. It included the following members from the Class of 1948: Joan Secrest, Smith Snead, Betty Helms, Joan Mills, Elaine Graham, and Ernest Tsitouris. The Beta Club sponsored the publication of the high school newspaper, The Benton Heights Hi-Lights. Several members of the class were members of the "Flyin'" cast. This one-act play, under the direction of Miss Garren, was presented in the county dramatic contest. It was declared the winning play in the preliminaries and was then entered in the finals.

At the beginning of the third year the enrollment had dropped to twenty-five. Miss Norma Moore was the class sponsor. She and Mr. Broome coached the basketball teams. Mrs. Kermit Starnes served as Beta Club sponsor. The following class members were gained: Nadine Smith, Nell Dean Davis, Doris Knight, and Charles McGuirt. The student council was organized. Betty Helms represented the class on this council.

The final year came almost before anyone could realize it. The enrollment during the first week was fifteen. Doris Wooten married and Gwynn Newman entered the Army. That decreased the membership to thirteen, but George Rose, an old timer, soon joined the class and brought the number to fourteen. Miss Annie Mae Flowe has served as the senior sponsor.

The class, assisted by members from the other high school classes, presented "A Christmas Carol", by Charles Dickens, just before the Christmas holidays.

The Junior-Senior, the Senior Play, the county-wide tournaments and the commencement exercises are highlights of the second term. All too soon those long-looked-forward-to-diplomas will be presented! JOAN MILLS, Historian

C L A S S P R O P H E S Y

Years quickly slipped by and it was 1960! It dawned upon me that it had been twelve years since the class of '48 had been together. Furthermore, it seemed "years" since I had heard from the different members.

I, then, made a special effort to get in touch with Mr. Oscar W. Broome, former principal of Benton Heights. Fortunately, he was able to give me the following recent information about each of my classmates:

Marilyn Austin had married and was living next door to Mr. O. W. Broome. Since her two boys were old enough to be in school, she had resumed her work at Penny's.

Doris Knight was also married. She was employed as the English--French teacher at Benton Heights.

The morning paper stated that Ernest Tsitouris, ex-student at West Point, had won a boxing championship award.

Walter A. Tarlton was driving a bus between Portland, Maine, and Miami, Florida.

Smith Snead had become manager of "Snead's Grill", formerly "Usher's Lunch". He was part time car salesman. "Cooter" Tarlton was still his best friend.

At the Carolina Theater, "That Peach from Georgia", was advertised, with Ann Carter and George Rose starring in their first picture together. "Porky" was wearing one of Rebecca Goodwin's originals. Rebecca, located in Hollywood, had become nationally known as a designer of men's clothing. I was especially interested to learn that the fortune teller's prediction had come true -- Rebecca had found her "Frank".

Jean Tucker had fulfilled her ambition. She was working for a good looking boss to whom her engagement had just been announced.

Joyce Curlee was also a successful secretary. She was trying to make up her mind which boy friend she would take.

I was happy to hear that Billie Rice had become manager of Woolworth's, in Monroe.

Elaine Graham had just bought Wilson's Drug Company. She invested the money which she saved while she was "soda jerker" there.

Joan Mills had been elected president of the Motor-Scooter Manufacturing Company, in Cincinnati, Ohio, the largest manufacturing company of that kind in the world.

I was delighted to know that all of my classmates were successful in their chosen careers. I was devoted to each of them.

CLASS POEM

As we near the close of our school days,
Days we deem precious and dear,
We think of our future professions;
For, indeed, this is our senior year.

For twelve years we've worked toward this setting,
With the indulgence of teachers and friends,
And with much patient cooperation,
We are nearing our journey's end.

Our school days that we've left behind
From the day we started 'till now,
Will be treasured as sacred memories,
Equal to a wedding's most solemn vow.

As for the days that are lying before us,
Some like darkness, others like lights,
Not one will forget, or even regret,
His school days at old Benton Heights.

L A S T W I L L A N D T E S T A M E N T

We, the Senior Class of nineteen hundred and forty-eight, of Benton Heights High School, of the town of Monroe, of the county of Union, and the state of North Carolina, being in as good mental condition as usual, do declare this to be our last will and testament:

ITEM FIRST

To the faculty, we bequeath our appreciation for their endeavors in helping us to complete our studies.

ITEM SECOND

To the Junior Class, we leave our standing positions in the auditorium.

ITEM THIRD

To the other students who are fortunate enough to remain behind, we bequeath the joy of learning, the school, and the wonderful times which we have had.

ITEM FOURTH

To the following students, the Seniors leave these seemingly small gifts. May they treasure them as priceless legacies:

1. Joyce Curlee wills her ability to play basketball to Colleen (Boots) Helms.

2. Ann Carter wills her beauty and Charles Brantley to anyone who particularly wants them.

3. Jean Tucker bequeaths her beauty to Rachel Tsitouris.

4. Joan Mills wills her pleasing personality to Donnie June Helms.

5. Smith Snead wills his position as lunch ticket puncher to Charles Brantley, and his punctuality to his brother "Blimp", with the hope that he will keep up the excellent record.

6. Walter "Cooter" Tarlton wills his dare-devil driving to Walter "All-Star" Matheson, well known bus driver, and his few extra pounds to Donald Rummage.

7. Doris Knight will her towering height to Elsie Craig and her ability to study to her brother, Warren.

8. George Rose bequeaths his loafing ability to "Hip" Yandle and his ability to attract the girls to "Cassanova" Matheson.

9. Marilyn Austin wills her phone calls to Iris Duncan.

10. Joan Secrest leaves Charles Brantley to the tenth grade girls since Ann was kind enough to give him to her.

11. Ernest Tsitouris bequeaths his ability to play basketball and his good looks to the members of the in-coming class.

12. Elaine Graham leaves her bangs and her cute figure to "Tootsie" Moore.

13. Rebecca Goodwin will her thorough perusal of all the encyclopedias in the library to R. B. Mangum.

14. Billie Rice leaves her naturally curly hair to Floy McCorkle.

In witness whereof, we hereunto subscribe our names, this the twenty-eighth day of January, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight.

I might not, if I could;

I should not, if I might;

Yet if I should I would,

And, shoulding, I should quite!

I must not, yet I may;

I can, and still I must;

But ah! I cannot-nay,

To must I may not, just!

I shall, although I will,

But be it understood,

If I may, can, shall-still

I might, could, would, or should!
